

MUKTI

NATURAL BEAUTY BEGINS HERE

MUKTI (/MOOKH TEE/) ORGANICS ARE PIONEERS
WITHIN THE AUSTRALIAN SKINCARE INDUSTRY
AND ARE NOW FIRMLY POSITIONED AS AUSTRALIA'S FAVOURITE ECO-LUXE, CERTIFIED ORGANIC BRAND.

Established since 2000, our range of award-winning formulations set us apart with potent bioactive native Australian extracts, refreshingly natural scents and environmentally conscious packaging.

Mukti encapsulates the essence of Australia.

OUR PHILOSOPHY

TO RECONNECT PEOPLE BACK TO NATURE, CREATING HEALTH AND HAPPINESS VIA TOXIN-FREE
LIFESTYLE AND BEAUTY REGIMES.

Mukti is an eco-activist and green cosmetic chemistry pioneer. She created one of Australia's first certified organic brands in 2000. Educated in complementary medicine, she has been actively involved in the beauty and personal care industry for over two decades. Her internationally-acclaimed and award-winning formulations combine functional, plant-based ingredients with indigenous Australian actives that deliver results by boosting skin health, vitality and youthfulness. Mukti set the benchmark for certified organic skincare in Australia.

CERTIFIED ORGANIC ACO + COSMOS

We are proud to have independent certification from Australian Certified Organic and COSMOS. It assures that our products have been produced in a manner that is ecologically sustainable and harmonious.

- No synthetic chemicals or processes
- No GMO – genetically modified ingredients
- Quality driven and strict input criteria

COSMOS
CERTIFIED

CRUELTY FREE

All our products are vegan and cruelty free. We don't test on animals, or purchase any ingredients that are tested on animals. We don't export to countries where animal testing is still practised.

Wherever possible, our products are free from palm oil, wheat and gluten. Any products containing palm oil are from certified sustainable palm oil plantations.

INGREDIENTS MATTER

EVERY PRODUCT. EVERY COLLECTION.

Each product contains a unique blend of native Australian extracts that address a particular skin type or condition.

Our revolutionary extraction method uses biomimicry to replicate the bioactive phytonutrients of the plant as it exists in nature, guaranteeing potency and efficacy.

OUR COLLECTIONS

We have distinctive facial care collections uniquely curated for different skin types and concerns.

Our hair and body care collections are suitable for all skin types and ages.

- AGE DEFIANCE
- VITAMIN BOOSTERS
- ALL SKIN TYPES
- NORMAL / DRY
- COMBINATION / OILY

NATIVE AUSTRALIAN EXTRACTS

Our extracts are replicated as they've existed in nature for billions of years.

Indigenous plants are potent receptacles and storehouses, brimming with an abundance of vitamins, antioxidants, minerals and bioactive constituents.

Biomimicry and innovative cellular extraction methods harness nature's evolved strategies to create potent and multifunctional phytoactives.

Cellular extraction maintains the integrity and delicate balance between the cell environment and the liquid medium into which they are dispersed, encapsulating the bioactive compounds without degrading or disrupting the plant biomatrix.

NATURE'S BLUEPRINT

Natural compounds are bioavailable and work with our own cellular matrix to be easily and readily utilised to deliver results.

Nature doesn't create a single compound. Plants and living organisms have evolved efficient and synergistic relationships between multiple compounds to sustain survival and reproduction.

A botanical extract in its purest form should replicate the true blueprint of a plant.

The phytoactive compounds and derivatives that are found in the flower, fruit, leaf or wood are bioidentical and presented in a unique delivery system that is stable, potent and multifunctional.

BIOACTIVE PEPTIDES

Our Age Defiance Collection contains potent cosmeceutical peptides that naturally occur in the skin and act as messengers.

BENEFITS:

- Promote the skin healing processes
- Fight the visible signs of ageing
- Repair damage from pollutants and free radicals
- Increase collagen and regulation of collagen production
- Maintain skin elasticity
- Stimulate rapid turnover of skin cells, cellular repair
- Even out pigmentation
- Antimicrobial protection
- Smoothing and nourishing effect on the skin

AGE DEFIANCE COLLECTION

- Age Defiance Day Serum acts as a topical Botox and targets plumping, firming and toning
- Age Defiance Night Serum targets luminosity, pigmentation and skin whitening
- Age Defiance Eye Serum targets puffiness, dark circles and crow's feet

VITAMIN BOOSTERS

- Vital A Elixir restores luminosity, brightness and even skin tone
- Vital B Elixir enhances natural skin balance, restores moisture balance and hydration
- Vital C Elixir provides natural skin protection from IR infrared photoageing, environmental stressors and free radicals.

1. Top Third – This area lists the ingredients that constitute 80–95% of the product. If the first ingredient listed is water or aqua, that’s what you’re paying for.

2. Middle Third – This constitutes about 4–12% of the product and is made up of oils, actives, emulsifiers and surfactants.

2. Final Third – Makes up around 1–4% of the product and consists of preservatives, fragrances, stabilisers and label claims.

The further down the list, the lower the percentage. Keep in mind, most of the active ingredients should appear before the midpoint of the list.

NOT ALL “NATURAL” PRODUCTS ARE CREATED EQUAL.
WE DON’T USE FILLERS. JUST POTENT INGREDIENTS.
WE ASK YOU TO COMPARE LABELS.

VIOLET GLASS

Our violet glass packaging incorporates biophotonic technology which protects the concentrated and active formulations by filtering out harmful rays of light.

Only the violet light wavelength is able to penetrate the glass. This further enhances product viability by activating and energising the molecules within to resonate at a similar frequency to the human nervous system.

It also maintains and preserves the formulations over an extended period of time.

WHAT TOXINS REALLY DO TO YOUR SKIN

If your skin seems out of sorts, it could be because of exposure to pollution in the air. "Prolonged exposure to air pollution can result in redness, inflammation, sensitivity and premature skin ageing," says Marie Enna-Cocciolone, founder of Ginger & Me and O Cosmetics. Letting things progress could lead to "eczema, dermatitis, psoriasis and even acne", she adds.

LAYER UP

Implement a routine that will protect the skin from free radicals (the nasties caused by pollution) by layering on vitamin- and botanical-spiked mists, micellars and serums. "This shield on the skin supports cellular health and fights free radical damage," says Enna-Cocciolone, who suggests a final layer of mineral sunscreen.

Chanel Le Bi-Phase Visage Anti-Pollution Face Makeup Remover, $62

O Cosmetics Micellar Treatment Gel, $39.95

Ultraceuticals Ultra Protective Antioxidant Complex, $89

Little Urchin Natural Sunscreen SPF 30, $24.95

HOW TO AVOID POLLUTION

Smog, smoke, air conditioning, traffic exhausts... they can all wreak havoc on our skin. Here's how to protect your complexion against an urban environment

Try Dermalogica Daily Superfoliant, $85; Simple Kind to Skin Hydrating Cleansing Oil, $9.99.

KEEP IT CLEAN

After a day in the concrete jungle, a double-cleanse will get rid of the grime. "Using powerful pre-cleansing oils combined with deep cleansing products ensure the pollutant particles on our skin's surface are dislodged and removed effectively," says Emma Hobson, education manager for the International Dermal Institute and Dermalogica. Also exfoliate with a chemical or mechanical exfoliator. "AHAs and BHAs clear dirt and pollution debris from pores," says Hobson.

Slather on a vitamin-packed mask to draw out impurities and boost your antioxidant levels. Choose your method:

The classic: Mukti Deep Cleanse Antioxidant Masque, $74.95, detoxes while dosing skin with antioxidants and minerals.

New age: Elizabeth Arden Prevue City Smart Double Action Detox Peel Off Mask, $99, peels off after 20 minutes for clean, bright skin.

Stephanie Darling has a Hawaiian-inspired massage and finds the party-perfect hair accessory.

ROAD TEST

This week I try... a lomi lomi massage and exfoliation treatment

The lowdown I'm in Byron Bay about to succumb to the Cultural Hawaiian Massage, based on the traditional royal ka huna massage. You are in the buff for this all-encompassing treatment, so leave your modesty at the door. I opt for the no-holds-barred approach that includes having my boobs massaged. My therapist Kina slathers me in oil and begins the rhythmic massage by cradling me in her arms and working with her hands and forearms. This is followed by a body exfoliation.

Pain factor I'd have preferred the exfoliation at the beginning of the treatment rather than the end.

Downtime A 90-minute massage, 30 minutes for the exfoliation.

Results Sheer bliss. I feel as if I've been astral travelling.

Where to get it The Byron at Byron, thebyronatbyron.com.au. Cost: $310. Sydney Kahuna, sydneykahuna.com.au. Cost: $225. Melbourne: The Urban Alchemist, theurbanalchemist.com.au. Cost: $150 for 90 minutes.

At home Try Shermana Crystalline Elixir Heart Oil, $44, shermana.com.au, with a soothing blend of lavender, calendula and rose petals.

Follow Stephanie Darling on Instagram @mrsdarling. Send questions to stephanie@darlingbeauty.com.au.

Trend: Vegan Toners Listen up, animal lovers and vegan devotees. The latest skin-balancing toners from three of our favourite Australian companies – Aesop, Mukti and Sukin – cover both these bases. Cleanse, then tone (the jury is in; this is a necessary step) to get skin prepped for your favourite serums and moisturisers.

ASK STEPHANIE

How do I get my fragrance to last all night?

The trick here is to layer: bathe or shower in your favourite body-scented wash, then apply the matching body cream on damp skin. Finish off with a spritz of matching scent in an EDP. My current obsession is Frédéric Malle Portrait of a Lady Shower Cream, $81, Body Butter, $245 and EDP, $294, mecca.com.au. Lush.

Luxe to Less

Mukti Rose Blossom Hydrating Mist Toner, $53.
Aesop B & Tea Balancing Toner, $37.
Sukin Hydrating Mist Toner, $11.

ADD TO CART

These no-slip "hair jewellery" charms from Perth-based Kela are my latest party trick, dotted strategically through side sections of my hair and held in place by a unique silicon clasp. They come in a range of versions, including gold, silver, pearl and my favourite redaction, the skull – very Alexander McQueen! Kela hair charms, $65 for three, kalacharms.com.

Hydrating Shampoo Bar With Aloe Vera, $25, CHRISTOPHE ROBIN, sephora.com.au
Super hairstylist Christophe Robin has struggled to keep up with global demand for this simple shampoo bar (which requires minimal packaging and minimal space in your shower caddy). It's entirely natural, and can take some time getting the hang of, but when it clicks, you won't look back. The cleanse is gentle, hair stays hydrated and will inexplicably feel like there is more of it there. Don't tell your man if you want it to last.

THE 2018 ELLE GREEN AWARDS

Carvi & Jardin De Figuier, $96 for 100ml, 100 BON, mecca.com.au; available February 27

This all-natural French fragrance house sells giant 200ml refills, so you can restock your bottle without having to toss it. The bottles, caps and packaging are all recyclable, the ingredients are sustainably sourced and even the alcohol is organic. It's green and it's really good.

Words: Amy Jay. With special thanks to the nominees, and winners of the 2018 ELLE Green Awards.

experts will tell you that, at that particular length, little damage is being done to the skin, and therefore little actual collagen-building is being triggered. But that's not to say that channel rolling is useless. "It creates a channel in the skin for active ingredients to penetrate deeper into the dermis, for increased efficacy," says Natalie Abouchar, a registered nurse and founder of Sydney's Privée Clinic. "The client can roll their skin in the evening and apply different products depending on their skin concerns, such as retinol, vitamin C and hyaluronic acid."

New York-based dermatologist Dr. Joshua Zeichner notes that if you're looking to reduce post-acne hyperpigmentation, the exfoliation "likely may give some effect. You'll notice I put in three qualifiers there." After a few weeks experimenting with a 0.3mm at-home roller, I notice my skin feels softer but not markedly changed. I want my pores teeny and my acne scars gone – now. And so, on the recommendation of New York's superstar dermatologist Dr. Dandy Engelman, I make my way to Jeannel Astarita, the founder of med-spa Just Ageless.

A single microneedling treatment costs between $640 and $970, and it's rarely sold as a one-off (patients with deep scars often opt for a series of three to six treatments). But for my rosacea and acne-prone skin, traditional microneedling could spell disaster (inflammation! Exacerbated breakouts!). It turns out I'm in luck: Astarita can offer the EndyMed Intensif, a relatively new device that couples microneedling with radio frequency to treat both active acne and acne scars. Delivered via 12 highly conductive gold-plated needles, the heat kills acne-causing bacteria and lessens inflammation. After cleansing, exfoliating, numbing and disinfecting my skin, Astarita starts stamping the thicker skin on my cheeks, nose and chin, programming the needles to go to a depth of 2.5mm, followed by my delicate under-eye area and forehead at 1.5mm. It's no more uncomfortable than a pinch – for the first few pulses. Then the discomfort gradually increases until tears stream down my cheeks. [Astarita explains that because the Intensif uses a slower in-out motion for its needles rather than straight microneedling, it's considered marginally more painful.]

But almost as soon as it begins, it's over, and Astarita is applying postprocedure topicals – an antioxidant and a skin strengthener. When she finally hands me a mirror, my face is a shocking shade of burgundy. It subsides to that of a particularly bad sunburn by the time I get home, and the pores on my chin – this isn't for the squeamish – look like they're purging sebum. In actuality, "It's a result of the inflammation," Astarita texts me the next day during a check-in. "The pores weep." Per her advice, I slip two damp muslin cloths into the freezer and apply them periodically, feeling not unlike Norma Desmond in Sunset Boulevard's gruesome makeover scene.

Everyone's skin reacts differently to these procedures, but it's typical to be red, dry and flaky for a few days. I'd planned to work from home on the Friday following my treatment, and at the early-morning sight of my swollen, pink visage, I'm glad I did. I commence a weekend of extreme moisturising, and by Monday, one colleague remarks upon my smooth skin (hallelujah!).

It's now been a month since my treatment and my pores look definitively smaller, and the scars that have bothered me for years are far less noticeable. Time will tell as to how much collagen-induced filling and tightening I'll experience – I'm told the effects continue to develop for up to six weeks post-procedure – but for now, I'm basking in my own glow.

season two of
*The Handmaid's

WAKE-UP TIME: About 6am. It takes a long time for me to get out the door. I'm pretty disorganised, as I'm not even the slightest bit of a morning person. I'd never be able to have a morning ritual or keep it consistent. I'm amazed people can pull that off.

BEST PYJAMAS: Crew makes really comfortable sleepwear.

SHOWER SAVIOURS: Kerastase Réflexion Bain Chroma Captive shampoo and Réflexion Fondant Chroma Captive conditioner are good for coloured hair. They help the colour last a bit longer. And I also like Burt's Bees products.

EASY STYLING: I dry my hair really quickly, like halfway, and then go.

MAKEUP MUST-HAVES: Bobbi Brown Pot Rouge for Lip & Cheeks, and Chanel's Le Volume De Chanel mascara.

QUICK SPRITZ: Chloe EDP.

THE BALANCE

"It is time to understand not just what you're putting in your body, but what you're putting on your body," says Natalie Kringoudis, a doctor of Chinese medicine and founder of women's health clinic, The Pagoda Tree.

Just rotating one or two natural alternatives into your skincare routine will make a big difference to your exposure to potentially unhealthy chemicals.

"My philosophy has always been an 80/20 rule," says Langmuir, whose Bite Beauty natural lipstick range is one of Sephora's biggest sellers. "80 per cent of the [products] I choose, I try to make sure they're healthy, sustainable and non-toxic."

GOLDEN TOUCH

Our favourite papaya-infused products to cleanse, soothe, nourish and heal.

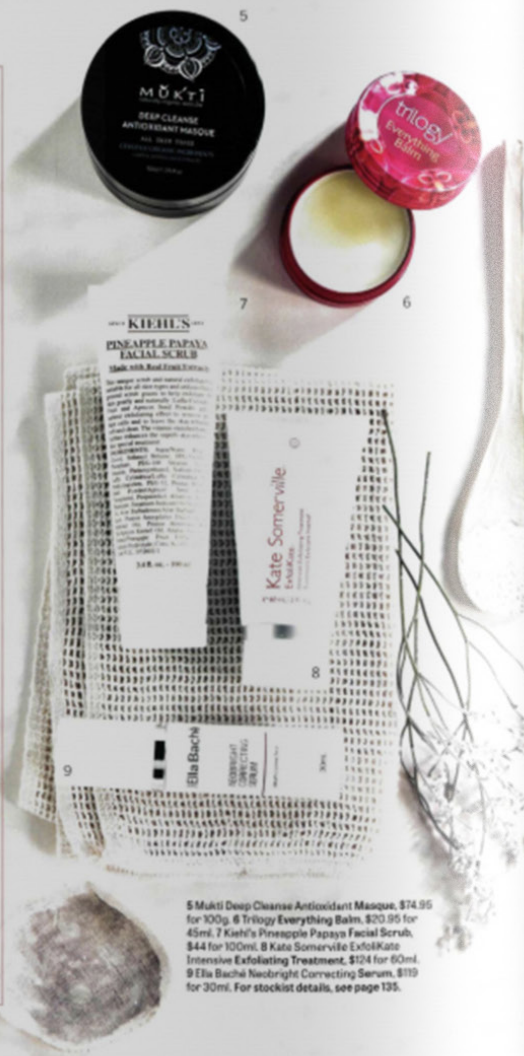

- A natural multipurpose balm packed with papaya can save your skin in a beauty crisis, soothing and nourishing everything from chapped lips and split cuticles to dry skin on your face or body, while being gentle enough for sensitive skin and babies. Try Pure Papaya Papaya Ointment (75g, $18.99), which uses a blend of shea butter, jojoba oil and papaya ferment and is petroleum free.

- Trilogy Everything Balm (45ml, $20.95) blends sweet almond and rosehip oil with papaya and echinacea.
- Clever cleansers utilise papaya's papain enzyme to give your skin a daily polish. Try Revision Skincare Papaya Enzyme Cleanser (198ml, $59) for all skin types, or Eve Lom Morning Time Cleanser (125ml, $79), a beautiful balm with clarifying clove and chamomile oils.

- Papaya is the perfect exfoliating ingredient to sweep away dry and dead skin cells, leaving your skin smooth and glowing. Kiehl's Pineapple Papaya Facial Scrub (100ml, $44) combines these tropical fruits with corn cob meal: massage into the skin for deep exfoliation. Kate Somerville ExfolKate Intensive Exfoliating Treatment (60ml, $124) uses papaya, along with lactic and salicylic acid, to purify and exfoliate.

- Papaya has a long list of benefits when added to a face mask. It can purify, detox and revitalise the skin, and it's an essential ingredient in Mukti Deep Cleanse Antioxidant Masque (100g, $74.95) that also uses white clay, chia and carrot seed oils. Or try Caudalie Instant Detox Mask (75ml, $47) that blends grapes, papaya, pink clay and essential oils to soak up impurities while rejuvenating and rebalancing skin.

- Using papaya, kakadu plum extract and hyaluronic acid to target pigmentation, Ella Baché Neobright Correcting Serum (30ml, $119) helps to create a more even skin tone.

5 Mukti Deep Cleanse Antioxidant Masque, $74.95 for 100g. 6 Trilogy Everything Balm, $20.95 for 45ml. 7 Kiehl's Pineapple Papaya Facial Scrub, $44 for 100ml. 8 Kate Somerville ExfolKate Intensive Exfoliating Treatment, $124 for 60ml. 9 Ella Baché Neobright Correcting Serum, $119 for 30ml. For stockist details, see page 135.

SKIN

Mukti Vital B Elixir, $110. Featuring native pomegranate, Kakadu plum and mountain pepper berry, it also utilises niacinamide (B3), hyped for its anti-ageing properties.

Jurlique Herbal Recovery Signature Mist, $55. The iconic South Australian brand is renowned for its farm-grown extracts. This new mist has a blend of marshmallow root, nasturtium and calendula for an antioxidant boost, and helps protect against environmental pollutants common in summer, too.

The Jojoba Company Only Skin Balancer, $60. This all-natural oil blend reduces sebum in 30 minutes thanks to new ingredient Azoactive Nile Lily. Perfect for hot days and nights.

TAN

Bondi Sands Liquid Gold Self Tanning Foam, $23. The new foam version of the popular dry oil self-tan, this quick-drying formula has the same argan oil-enriched base with a creamier texture.

Luna Bronze Glow Gradual Tanning Moisturiser, $28. Ultra-nourishing, this delivers on its promise of a sun-kissed glow that you can build up. The natural mandarin, lemon myrtle and orange blossom oils make for a freshly squeezed summer scent.

Eco Tan Cacao Tanning Moisturiser, $35. Need a golden glow in a hurry? This cult favourite is perfect for even the fairest skin tones. Easy to apply, it can be washed off after an hour or left on to develop.

"We wanted a sunless-tanning product that wasn't harsh. It had to be mostly organic or natural, it had to nourish our skin and look real."
